

Global structured credit news, opinion, strategies and data

structuredcreditinvestor

Job Swaps

Ex-MS CMBS banker tapped

A10 Capital, a firm that finances commercial real estate and provides services to resolve troubled assets, has hired Jay Haberman to head up its mid-Atlantic markets business. Haberman will be responsible for sourcing all new business opportunities in Virginia, Washington DC, Maryland and North Carolina, including first mortgage loans, note acquisition financings, mezzanine loans, equity investments, distressed debt financing and troubled asset advisory engagements.

Haberman has been involved with most aspects of commercial real estate financing and investments for the last 20 years, and has closed nearly US$2bn in commercial real estate for a variety of platforms including CMBS, life company balance sheets, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and third-party managed accounts. Most recently, he ran lending activities for Morgan Stanley's mid-Atlantic CMBS office. Prior to this, he originated and managed commercial real estate loan portfolios for General American Life, Conning Asset Management, MetLife, Swiss Re and KeyBank Real Estate Capital.

13/01/2010
